

The Walter Family-Part 2

Once in England, August Walter worked many long hours for various butchers. Eventually, he settled down with Michail Schonhut of Parkgate, Rotherham. Here, he acquired all the knowledge and practical experience required. With this know-how he started his own business in Dewsbury and married Pauline Lang. In 1896 they had a son Ernest, unfortunately, two years later Pauline died.

The Dewsbury business did not prove to be very successful so he moved and took over a butchers shop at Conisbrough. This is when he met Sophia Hornüing and got married in 1901. They had two children, Frederick born 1902 and Lena born 1905.

August Walter's butchers shop in Conisbrough was very successful. With the building of the railway viaduct, to carry trains over the River Don valley to transport coal from the pit at Denaby, it boosted trade. For two and half years, Irish labourers were employed to hand build the viaduct.

The variety of good quality meaty meals at Walter's butchers shop were very popular with the workers and their families. They were housed in wooded huts and would purchase roast pork sandwiches, brawn, polony, pies and sausages. On certain days, the labourers wives took basins for the penny 'ducks' with veils on (rissole wrapped in skirting fat) with hot gravy poured over. Cured hams and bacon were taken to Askern boating lake to sell to the holiday trade. In time, August Walter built another shop and house in Church Street and two other properties adjacent. In later years, these properties became the Sheffield Banking Co. and then the National Provincial Bank.

Lound Remembrance Service — 2020

This year, in order to comply with the Rule of Six and to minimise the risk to Parishioners, there will be a very much reduced Remembrance Ceremony at the War Memorial on Remembrance Sunday,

8th November at 11.00 am

Only six designated people will be present, but wreaths and crosses will be laid, the names of the fallen will be read out, the Last Post and the Reveille will be sounded and a two minute silence will be observed. People will, of course, be welcome to lay wreaths or crosses on the memorial separately. Hopefully, the people of Lound at home will also keep the silence at 11 o'clock on this day to demonstrate that, together,

“We Will Remember Them”

Central Heating Oil

Central Heating Oil Syndicate Coordinator

In March 2000, I started ordering the central heating oil for Villagers when the price per litre was only 15.6p per litre. I continued the ordering for 13 years. Since then, aided by the Strange's and the Austin's, we have all saved considerable sums of money by negotiating discounts for the bulk orders.

If we all "top-up" every 3-4 months then we all will continue to benefit, even when ordering the minimum order of 500 litres.

If anyone in the village is prepared to continue to run this money saving scheme please contact me for further information, otherwise this excellent central heating oil scheme will sadly end.

Parish Council

Despite objections raised by local residents and Parish Councils, the Planning Application for Danes Hill Asbestos Picking Operation was approved by NCC, unless the Secretary of State directs that an Environmental Impact Assessment should have been undertaken. The proposal will now have to be considered by the Environment Agency who will judge how the works are to be undertaken and whether the working methods are safe. Further consultation will be needed and we hope to make our views known to ensure that if this work has to be undertaken, it is done safely. We have sought assistance from our MP, Brendan Clarke-Smith and are working with other Parishes to ensure that our voices are heard.

Lound PC is to form a working party, which includes representatives from Parish Councils and residents that are able to offer support to make sure everyone is kept updated on the application and have the opportunity to have their concerns or comments heard.

Your representative for Lound Parish Council is Chris Chambers Tel: 01777 816078 or, email info@chrischambersconsulting.co.uk
